Four Winds science teacher Samantha Ur chosen for National Geographic Fellowship program

By Stephen Dafoe

Four Winds Public School Grade 5 and 6 science and outdoor education teacher Samantha Ur is one of 35 North American educators to join the Grosvenor Teacher Fellowship program, a collaboration between the National Geographic Society and Lindblad Expeditions.

Ur, one of only four Canadians selected for the honour, will depart for Costa Rica and Panama aboard the National Geographic expedition vessel Quest from December 14 to 21.

The one-week trip will offer Ur and other educators the opportunity for hands-on, field-based learning experiences doing research in partnership with National Geographic experts.

The science teacher has been with Sturgeon School Division for nine years.

She started her teaching journey at École Morinville Public School.

UR was a Sturgeon student attending Namao and Sturgeon Composite High School before furthering her education.

UR had previously applied twice for the Grosvenor Teacher

Morinville Fire Department wants you to get ready for a 72-hour emergency

By Stephen Dafoe

Emergency Preparedness Week runs May 5 to 11, and the Morinville Fire Department wants to help families prepare for a 72-hour emergency.

The Department will hold an open house at the Don Found Fire Station on 100 Street on Wednesday, May 8, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Brad Boddez,

Morinville's fire chief and manager of community safety services, said the idea of the event was to promote home and family education on preparing for an emergency or disaster by making an emergency preparedness kit to sustain a family for 72 hours.

"That's kind of the window they've got - 72 hours. So, some non-perishables, blankets, first aid kits, that kind of stuff," Boddez explained, noting that last year's event drew 200 people.

"We've purchased some 72-hour kits as giveaways. We have a 4-person 72-hour kit, a 2-person kit, and a pet kit. So, there are three types of raffles that we're going to have.

Boddez expects a full complement

Morinville allocates part of 2023 surplus to lower 2024 property tax increase

By Colin Smith

Part of an unexpected $2.3 million financial surplus will be used to lower the 2024 property tax increase for Morinville residents and businesses.

Council decided to devote some of the surplus to reducing this year's increase at its regular meeting on Tuesday, Apr. 23, when it passed the 2024 Property Tax Bylaw.

Property taxes will go up by 3.8%, rather than the 4.4% set out in the property tax bylaw when it was given first reading Mar. 26.

That bylaw had already been amended to reduce the rate increase from the 5.5% anticipated in the 2024 Operating Budget. The rate cut was based on higher than anticipated municipal assessment values.

At the Tuesday meeting, Financial Manager Travis Nosko reported that the Town of Morinville had an unexpectedly strong financial year in 2023.

Total revenues exceeding budgeted expectations by $332,957 and total expenses were lower than budgeted by $2,029,131, resulting in a total surplus of $2,362,088.

The major source of higher revenue was investment income and sales and user charges, including increased user fees from the MLC and MCCC.

While expense reductions occurred throughout the town organization, with most departments under budget, contracted services provided the largest savings.

Chief among them was the $303,869 saved because snow removal/hauling needs were lower in the 2023 fiscal year.

Also, the policing contract was $304,401 under budget, along with salaries, wages and benefits at $205,917 under, after accounting for the $350,000 in budgeted attrition.

The 2023 net surplus is $1,816,110 after designated transfers, including to the parks, recreation and culture, and offsite levy reserves.

A surplus was anticipated in the development of the 2024 budget, and $1 million of that was assigned to reserves in the document. Administration recommended that Council also put the remainder entirely into reserves.

In accordance with the reserve policy, the $303,869 in snow and ice removal funds would go into the snow removal reserve. Also, according to policy, 25%, $454,000, would be allocated to the capital projects reserve. The remainder would be designated for the operating reserve.

The move to utilize part of the surplus to reduce the 2024 tax increase was spearheaded at the meeting by Councillor Stephen Dafoe.

In discussion of second reading of the bylaw, Dafoe moved that administration allocate $158,000 from the surplus to go toward lowering the tax rate. His concept was that $100,000 would come from snow removal funds, plus $58,000 in what had been described as council discretionary funds.

"I like the fact that we are turning the corner," he said.

"When we have so much surplus, I think some of that should go back."

In debate, Dafoe's motion received widespread support from other council members, with the exception of Deputy Mayor Jen Anheliger, who cited the need to plan for financial stability.

"I think this decision to shave a little bit off the top is short-sighted," she said, "I think it's important that we stick with the plan."

A 10-minute recess was called following the proposal of an amendment by Mayor Simon Boersma.

Discussion during recess resulted in council direction to administration to allocate the surplus as follows: $103,869 to the snow removal reserve, $129,107 to the capital projects reserve, $129,107 to the general operating reserve, from which funds would be transferred to allow for a lower tax rate increase.

The remainder would be allocated in accordance with the reserve policy or other agreements.

The second reading of the amended tax policy bylaw passed six to one, with Anheliger opposed.

The bylaw was then given a third reading and unanimously approved.

Fellowship program but was not accepted.

Last December, Ur decided to give it another shot, going through the lengthy essay and video questions process.

Then she got the call.

"When I found out, I was ecstatic. I started crying. I kept saying, 'I can't believe this,'" Ur recalled of the February voice-mail she heard in her truck after school.

"It's honestly a dream come true. This program is just amazing, and I'm so incredibly excited to be part of it. I still can't believe it's happening. I'm just so over the moon about it."

Ur said she is excited about the opportunity to work with National Geographic's experts.

"On this trip, there's going to be a lot of opportunity to get hands-on with a lot of field-based knowledge. They have naturalists on board, so I'm going to be able to go and learn from these naturalists on the ship," Ur said, noting that bird and plant life is considerably different in Costa Rica and Panama from Canada.

"That's what I'm really going for – the differences in the adaptations, the difference in the biodiversity that they have there. They've got a scientist on board, so it's going to be really easy to ask all the questions."

Ur plans to involve students in formulating questions she can ask the National Geographic naturalists, information about biodiversity, adaptations, and culture that she can bring back to the students and the Division.

"We get an opportunity to visit local cultures, local families and learn from them about what they're doing in that area," Ur said, adding her plan is to bring that scientific information back to her students through photos, stories, and evidence to bring the curriculum to life for them. "I want to share that not only with my students but with everyone."

Four Winds Principal Dan Requa said the Division is proud to showcase its amazing teachers and expressed pride that Ur was selected for the prestigious fellowship opportunity.

"It's always great to highlight the amazing staff we have here," Requa said, noting Ur would be tapped on the shoulder to share the experience from what she's learned or creates from the experience.

"She'll be sharing with all the other elementary science teachers and whoever needs it. I think it's just exciting when you get to dive into your passions."

Requa went on to praise Ur for taking students outside for hands-on science.

"The atmosphere she builds around the subject is so crucial," he said. "That's what they're going to remember, and that is what these kids remember."

The Grosvenor Teacher Fellowship program is open to pre-K-12 educators.

Those selected commit two years to support National Geographic's education initiatives. Since its inception in 2006, 400 educators have received the honour.

Ur is one of only two Alberta teachers chosen. Tyler Dixon of West Ridge School in Calgary was also selected and will travel to Antarctica.

Morinville RCMP investigate break and enter to rural shop

On March 25, 2024, at 3:55 p.m., Morinville RCMP received a report of a break in that occurred at a rural shop on Township Road 570 in Sturgeon County.

The victim interrupted the two suspects during the break in. The suspects quickly left the property driving a Black BMW SUV.

It is believed that the suspects stole a Reveal Tacticam X Trail camera.

Later in the evening, Morinville RCMP were conducting patrols in the area and again observed suspects at the same property.

The suspects upon seeing police left the scene at a high rate of speed.

While RCMP continue their investigation, photos of the two suspects and the vehicle are being released in hopes that the public can identify them.

with the members on hand as the event falls on the Fire Department's training night.

In addition, enforcement services officers, RCMP, and Northeast Region Community Awareness Emergency Response (NRCAER) will be present.

"We'll talk about fire safety, fire prevention, and emergency preparedness," Boddez said, adding that handouts will list what items should go into a 72-hour emergency preparedness kit.

The Fire Chief explained that emergency preparedness kits are essential across the province in the event of wildfires, flooding, or tornados, as well as in cases of long-term power or heating outages or the need to evacuate one's home.

Boddez and his crew hope to see a significant turnout again this year to see emergency services at work and to learn about the importance of making a 72-hour emergency preparedness kit.

"I think a key thing when it comes to emergency preparedness is that we never seem to do the whole preparedness part," he said, noting that the time to make a kit ready to go is before the emergency arrives.

"We need to get into that habit of getting things done ahead of time so when the emergency does happen, we don't have to think about it; we're ready to go. Because, during that time, you're not going to have time to get ready."

The free drop-in event is open to all ages and occurs at the Don Found Fire Station on Wednesday, May 8, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Morinville Fire Department moves to fire restriction

As of April 25, Morinville Fire Department is implementing a fire restriction due to ongoing dry conditions.

Residents are urged to be cautious and comply with safe fire practices as the likelihood of grass fires and wildfires increases.

The following measures are currently in place:

Approved Fire Pits: Only the use of approved backyard fire pits that meet the specifications of the Land Use Bylaw are permitted.

CSA Approved Appliances:

Residents may use CSA approved appliances powered by natural gas, propane, or pellets that are designed for cooking or heating. This includes barbecues, patio heaters, and similar devices.

No Open Burning or Fireworks: All open burning on fringe farmland and fireworks are prohibited under these conditions.

Cigarette Disposal: Please exercise extreme caution with all smoking materials. Cigarette butts should be disposed of in metal containers specifically designed for this purpose. Do not throw cigarettes into backyard vegetation, or out of vehicles.

Furthermore, do not extinguish cigarettes into flowerpots, planters, or organic material at any time.

Residents are encouraged to check the Town's website at <https://www.morinville.ca/en/living-here/fire-prevention.aspx> for more information on backyard fire pit requirements and safe burning guidelines. Please be advised that this fire restriction may escalate to a full fire ban with minimal notice, depending on changes in weather conditions. Visit www.albertafirebans.ca for up-to-date information.

Safety Reminder:

Morinville Community Safety Services urges all residents to remain alert and adhere to all safety protocols to prevent fires. Protecting our community requires everyone's participation.

To report any suspicious fire activity, please call 911.

AQUARIUS

(January 21 - February 18)

Aquarius, you may be feeling moody and introspective right now. Take time to evaluate your dreams and the thoughts going through your head. There may be common threads.

PISCES

(February 19 - March 20)

Don't let some ambiguous feedback adversely affect your mood, Pisces. You will never be able to please everyone, so focus on those people who are on your side.
