Discovering the joy of music with Laura Wallbank

By Shelley Winger

If you live near Bon Accord and have ever thought about learning the fiddle, now is the perfect time!

Laura Wallbank, a skilled and passionate fiddler with 13 years of experience, is excited to be offering fiddle lessons just 15 minutes outside of town.

Laura's love for the fiddle began when she was inspired by her best friend, who played classical violin.

"I listened to her play and decided I really wanted to be like her," Laura recalls.

That decision sparked a journey that has led to award-winning performances, years of event appearances, and a growing reputation as a dedicated teacher.

After taking a short hiatus, Laura has resumed teaching and is thrilled to share her love of music with new students. She currently has six slots available for lessons and welcomes learners ages 8 and up, including adults who are eager to pick up a new skill or revisit an old passion.

"It's so rewarding to watch people progress," Laura shares.

"Sometimes I tell my students they're doing better every week, but they don't notice it themselves. When they finally realize how much they've improved, it's such an amazing introduce students to those genres once they've built a strong foundation.

Beyond teaching, Laura remains an active performer and regularly shares her music with the feeling for both of us!"

Laura focuses on teaching the fundamentals of fiddle playing, which she believes is essential for beginners before they move on to exploring specific styles.

However, she's particularly drawn to Irish and Celtic music and is happy to community. You can check out her performances on her Facebook page, Laura Wallbank Music, where she posts videos of her playing.

If you're interested in lessons or have any questions, feel free to reach out to Laura directly via her Facebook page or email her at laurathefiddler8@gmail.com.

Libraries in the digital age: A timeless resource for the community

By Shelley Winger

In a world increasingly dominated by screens, apps, and instant access to digital content, libraries remain a cornerstone of community connection and education.

While technology has reshaped the way we access information, libraries continue to evolve, offering resources that meet the needs of modern life while preserving the essence of learning, exploration, and creativity.

Libraries are no longer just places to borrow books.

They've become dynamic spaces where people of all ages gather to learn new skills, access technology, and participate in programs that enrich their lives.

From offering internet access to hosting community events, libraries ensure equitable access to knowledge, tools, and experiences that many might otherwise find out of reach.

Take, for example, the Gibbons

Public Library, which has embraced this evolving role with creativity and community-focused initiatives.

Thanks to a collaboration with Alberta Fish & Wildlife Enforcement and the Onoway Fish & Game Ladies League, the library now offers fishing rods and tackle for loan with a library card!

This unique program encourages families and individuals to explore Alberta's great outdoors, learn about fishing, and connect with nature.

Such initiatives highlight the adaptability of libraries in meeting diverse community needs.

Whether it's traditional books, digital resources, or fishing gear, libraries are committed to offering something for everyone.

Programs like this not only promote lifelong learning but also foster a sense of belonging and shared purpose within the community.

To learn more about the organizations behind the fishing program, visit the Onoway Fish & Game Ladies League and Alberta Fish & Wildlife Enforcement. Their efforts, combined with the Gibbons Public Library's commitment to innovation, demonstrate how libraries continue to serve as hubs

Different options for doing your taxes

(NC) Now that the New Year has rolled around and the holiday decorations are packed away, one of the next big events to look forward to is tax time.

The deadline to file your 2024 tax return is April 30th.

While it may not be something you're eager to do, there are many reasons why you should file on time.

First, the benefits. Filing on time ensures you'll avoid delays or interruptions to your benefit and credit payments.

If you're owed a refund, the earlier you file, the earlier you'll receive it. And when you file and pay on time, you'll avoid penalties and interest on any balance you owe.

You can file online using Canada Revenue Agency-certified tax software.

It's easy and, in some cases, free.

If you have a modest income, you may be able to get help from one of the free tax clinics held across the country.

École Georges H. Primeau Middle School hosted a school-wide Faith Retreat, bringing together students for a day of reflection, connection, and spiritual growth. The event was highlighted by a special presentation from Jon Bauer, who delivered an inspiring message centered on the theme of mercy—emphasizing that mercy is demonstrated through kindness and love. Students engaged in activities that reinforced these values, fostering a deeper understanding of faith and compassion. The retreat provided a meaningful opportunity for the school community to come together and strengthen their shared beliefs.
